This copy of King Lear differs in some particulars from the two others in Vol. IV.

The title page of it is the same as the second of those copies, that is, it has no direction to the place of sale, and the first Signat. is B.—notwithstanding which there are minute diversities; thus, in this copy in H3 verso, we have—"A foole usurps my bed;" in the other whose first signat. is also B. we find—My foote usurps my body;" and in the copy without any direction to the place of Sale (whose first signat. is A)—"My foote usurps my head."